The Impacts of Ethnic Policy Towards Social Transmission of Minor Employees

Pham Minh The

Abstract: Social mobility is the movement, change of status and status of individuals, families, social groups in the social structure and system, created by many causes, of which the basic principle is the interference of the political system, especially about the social shift of ethnic minorities in a multiracial country. This is a very interesting issue, because each racial group will have different backgrounds, and therefore the impact of national policy from the government is different. The social shift between every ethnic group is different, and therefore, the consequences are different. However, because of the lack of materials and sources, it is difficult to present these transmissions throughout history. Thus, within the framework of this article, the author presents only the manifestations of the displacement of the Vietnamese society under the influence of ethnic policies both in history and in the present.

The Growth of Ha Dong District's Population from 2000 to 2015

Nguyen Huu Son

Abstract: The paper examines the population growth in Ha Dong District from 2000 to 2015. By analyzing, comparing, and evaluating specific statistics the article points out the changes in population size, structure and growth rate. The population in working age accounts for  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the total population, which is higher than the national average. The natural population growth rate is low, but the population growth rate due to immigration is very high. Growth has negative effects, but it is a common phenomenon of urbanization in many parts of the country. It is this growth which increases the labor force of the society and contributes to rapid socio-economic development; it also enriches the cultural and social life in Ha Dong.

The Great Upheaval of the Tran Dynasty from the Perspective of Feminist Critiques

Nguyen Thi Minh Phuong

Abstract: Feminist critiques have a profound impact on human culture, exposing gender inequality in patriarchal regimes, indicating men's imposition and coercion to women. Through feminist critique perspective, we see that the Great Upheaval of the Tran dynasty has revived the female characters who are the symbols for the fate of suffering and tragedy in history and is exposing the oppression and abuse of power by men for the wrong purposes while ruining social morality. Hoang Quoc Hai has expressed his sympathy and compassion for unfortunate women, and raised his voice for the rights to live, freedom and gender equality so that women actively participate in all cultural activities of the society. The writer fights for the abolition of male dominance and scorn in the subordination of the women, criticizing the male abuse of power in unethical practices, but does not negate the active role of men in history. The writer has adhered to the historical truth and invented fictitious details to portray his lively characters. Analyzing the psychological development of the characters is quite delicate and points to noble human values and good things. He writes about female images from politics, full of patriotic inspiration, creating great persuasiveness for the readers.
